

STANCHFIELD THE MAN.

THE KNOCKER'S COLUMN.

He Turns His Attention from Sports to the Politicians.

(Special to The Evening World.)
SARATOGA, N. Y., Sept. 12.—A fight to a finish will be pulled off this afternoon at a place called Convention Hall on the top of the hill. The contestants will be Dick Croker, of New York, and Dave Hill, of Albany. Both are heavyweights, although Dick insists that Dave is a light-weight. The New York man weighs in at the ringside at 200. The referee will be Ed Murphy, but Hill makes a kick on him. Jimmy McGuire, of Syracuse, will be time-keeper. Rames, brother of the Raines law man, will be the announcer. In Hill's corner E. Danforth. In Croker's corner the whole Tammany push. Betting—100 to 1 on the New Yorker. Later—Dave knocked out by Dick in first round.

"McGuire, the little Brooklyn man, is an also ran up here. He wants to get back in the Sixth Ward quick where he is somebody."

Frank Farrell nearly had a fit when the owner of a gambling joint told him he did not have to pay protection. Frank says it's a losing game to be in the police business here.

Deputy Commissioner Fanning staggers through the hotel lobbies daily with the weight of the convention on his shoulders. He and C. H. P. Belmont have agreed that they are the real statesmen.

Jimmy Oliver, with his silk hat and frock coat, hit the town last night. Some one asked where he got the money to get here and he got mad.

Badgeman "Blind" was introduced to Malloy of Troy. "I know you," said Blimber. "Do you?" asked Malloy. "Where did you find her?"

Asa Bird Gardiner thinks he's in the band wagon. He's the only one that does.

Saratoga is a Niagara of wine. Four thousand quarts were opened at the Grand banquet. Even Dick Croker couldn't hold. He needs the money.

Pat Gleason did not even get the glad hand when he arrived. After he wandered around the village without being recognized he said: "He heavens, I think this is a Republican convention."

Matt Donohue is no slouch. The dealer at the club says he's a stayer. Matt has a return ticket.

When Colonel Michael C. Murphy sprung his long tube that he eats through on the water at the Grand the colored gentleman informed him that there "was no smoking allowed in the dining room."

Johnny Oakley and four friends held down a table and one bottle of wine in the Grand cafe yesterday afternoon for three hours. The waiter finally got tired and turned on the electric lights. Then Alderman Muh discovered it was time to buy.

Counsellor Foley was no busy dodging drinks yesterday that he sneaked home early this morning. His right arm was very tired at the joint.

Joe Cassidy, President of the Municipal Council Knicker Club, refused the administration membership today. He says the list is too long.

Gene Wood, who, my political friends tell me, is a boss man in the lobby up at Albany, has a little difference in a place here and the gentleman in charge asked him to please step lively outside. Gene tried to argue the proposition, but he went out. Now he's wondering if his money isn't good. It's all right in Albany.

Counsellor Nolan is a stunner. He looked like the real thing when he started down Broadway to give the ladies a treat. "This was his get up: White duck trousers, patent leather shoes, long frock coat, silk hat and the emblems of Germany, Ireland and America in the front. He promises a change of dress every day.

Jimmy Ridgway, the Brooklyn political phantom, is here or rather was here. Ridgway is growing fat. He can't get heavier than two feet to a bar.

Johnny Whalen has not let Croker out of his sight since. And Dick isn't easy to watch, either.

"Tim" Sullivan can't be found. His friends are looking for him. Tim says the rumor man, has been touched to a standstill.

"How do you do, men?" is Croker's latest way of saluting.

If Isaman Carroll doesn't keep away from Croker he'll get frosted.

Archibut Slattery made his board bill last night. That's about all. Slattery thinks Tammany will have to have some hurry-up repairs made to the city building when he gets home.

"Want some food tea?" asked a waiter, addressing A. Van Wyck at dinner in the Grand Union. "I don't know," roared the Mayor's brother in tones that made the waiter think his job was gone. That waiter has been tried not to mention "tea" again to the Judge. It's a sore question.

Who told Martin Engel to keep away from the Grand Hotel. He walks on the far side of the street when he hears that name. Martin says he's got just as swell joints in "The Knocker."

HILL'S SPEECH FOR COLER IN FULL.

The Comptroller's Ability and Uprightness and Why Hill Was Forced to Nominate Him.

SARATOGA, Sept. 12.—The speech of David H. Hill nominating Bird S. Coler for Governor at the Democratic State Convention was as follows:

"I do not assume upon this occasion to speak for the delegation from the county of Albany, but I assume to speak simply for myself and to express my own sentiments."

"This convention is desirous of nominating the best candidate who can be found in the State of New York who is willing to allow the use of his name in this campaign. I desire to state at the outset that the course that I now suggest is somewhat unusual and I will state the reason."

"The gentleman whose name I intend to present for the consideration of this convention resides not in my own county, but in one of the largest counties in the State. I am advised that his name is not to be presented to this convention by the delegation that occupies seats here."

"I am advised further that his name is not to be presented by the delegation that represents the district in which he lives, notwithstanding this resolution was passed at the meeting that sent the delegation to this convention, and if it is not out of order to read this resolution I would ask the secretary to read it for me."

The resolution endorsing Coler passed by the Sixteenth District of Kings was read.

"The language of the resolution is (and you will pardon me for repeating it) 'The delegation are hereby instructed to favor his nomination for Governor in this Convention.'

"With no disrespect to that delegation, nor to the entire delegation from Kings county upon this floor, I think if that day, which the electors of that delegation imposed upon that particular delegation, is not performed here it should be performed by delegations in some other part of the State."

WHO CAN GET THE VOTES?

"The question before this Convention now is as I stated at the outset, who will be the best candidate to be nominated to receive the suffrages of the people. This resolution which was passed may or may not meet the consideration of this Convention, but I desire to present some reasons why I think it should."

Bird S. Coler needs no introduction. Three years ago he came to the office of Comptroller of the city of New York, with such marked and signal ability that he has attracted the attention of the people not only of this State, but all the people of the United States. He has corrected abuses that had obtained heretofore. You will recollect the confession of judgment bill which was passed for the protection of the taxpayers of the city of New York, and he was its author and the man who suggested it to the Legislature."

"You recollect the Rampage fight, which he fought from the beginning to the end. You recollect his effort to protect the City of New York from the control of the City of New York, which he has properly denounced and in your platform you recollect his efforts to rip up corruption everywhere."

"I recollect with pleasure, sir, the words expressed by the delegate from Kings county who yesterday had the honor of presiding over this Convention, in which he called attention to the fact that Coler was the author of the bill which had been passed for the protection of the taxpayers of the city of New York, and he was its author and the man who suggested it to the Legislature."

CROKER IN PLATT'S SEAT.

"Croker occupied the same seat as he did yesterday, the same one from which Thomas C. Platt nominated the Republican ticket today. This one week ago, N. K. to Croker was a Corporation Counsel, John Whalen, while Johnnie Carroll was in the third chair on the row. Larry Delmour had seat two on the row directly behind the boys."

The report of the Committee on Resolutions was next in order, the platform being read by Prof. Milne."

The mention of the Ice Trust in the platform was received with a tumultuous shout. It came from all parts of the hall, but was not participated in by any of the Tammany leaders."

The endorsement of Bryan got a cheer, as did the approval of the franchise law. The nomination of the central policy of the Republican party also tickled the delegates."

"Good!" cried a delegate. "Good!" cried another. "Good!" cried a third. "Good!" cried a fourth. "Good!" cried a fifth. "Good!" cried a sixth. "Good!" cried a seventh. "Good!" cried an eighth.
